GUILLAME DESARIELAS, fur trader from Lesser Slave lake, arrived in town on Saturday evening, accompanied by Martin Ouellette. They left Lesser Slave lake on the 6th inst., and report very mild weather and for more than usually plentiful. In crossing the lake they had to wade through water laying on top of the ice caused by the snow melting. Sometimes nearly twelve inches deep. At Peace river they found only about two or three inches of snow and they found great difficulty in travelling with their dog train on account of the scarcity of snow. They brought in about $1,000 worth of furs with them.

JOSEPH LADOUCEUR, who trades north-east from Lac la Biche, was in last week with about $1800 worth of fur which he put up in four lots. The several lots were sold to the following buyers: Lot No. 1 to H. S. Young for $1,256. Lot No. 2 to James Walsh for $225.58. Lot No. 3 to R. Reid for $215.58. Lot No. 4 to H. B. Co. for $48. In the lot bought by Mr. Walsh was a pure black fox the first of the season. These foxes are very rare and although we often hear of black foxes, when they come to market they are most always found to be a silver grey.

HENRY, eldest son of John Frederick, of the Clearwater settlement, while drawing a load of logs for firewood on Tuesday, the 14th inst., met with a fatal accident. It is supposed that while driving down the hill, the chain, which he used to check the sleigh, broke, and let the load on the horses, and the sleigh, slipping sideways, upset on top of Mr. Frederick, some of the logs striking him on the head and causing his death. When found by his brother some time afterward, he was buried under the load and had been dead some time. The funeral took place at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon to the Baptist cemetery. The Rev. F. Miller conducted the service, and the funeral was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends, filling the church to the doors. The deceased, who was about 25 years of age, was a general favorite in the neighborhood, and the bereaved family have the sympathy of the whole community.

MUNICIPAL RUMOURS.

The rumours which were afloat on Friday and Saturday with reference to the proposal to protest the election of the new councillors, culminated this morning in the receipt of a letter by Messrs. Sutter and Cowie from P. L. McNamara, a copy of which we give below. Messrs. Sutter and Cowie have determined to take their seats to-night, and so compel their opponents to proceed as threatened. Mr. Sutter claims to have qualified for the position of councillor on property to the value of $1900. We reserve our comments on the matter until further developments have taken place.

C. W. Sutter, Esq.,
Edmonton, Alb.

Dear Sir—Last you may have any misunderstanding as to the conversation we had this morning in reference to your qualification as a councillor elect. I have decided to write you. My object in speaking as I did was to ask you candidly if you were qualified, and if so and you showed the fact satisfactorily, then there should be nothing more about it. Your answer was that you could conscientiously take the oath of office. I have no doubt but that you may think so, but before you do, let me draw your attention to the necessary qualification set out in Sec. 5, Part 2 of the Municipal Ordinance. An examination of the last revised assessment roll of the municipality has failed to show the necessary amount. Now I again ask you to show me how you are qualified; if you do so satisfactorily, there will be no difficulty about the matter; on the other hand, if you do not, there is only one course to be pursued. This is a matter of very grave importance to the town, affecting its very foundation, and this is too critical a point in its existence to overlook what appears to be a gross mistake. An answer will oblige.

Yours truly,

P. L. McNAMARA.

At the Methodist church yesterday morning the Rev. G. W. Dean in his sermon referred to the war scare. He could not see, he said, why the United States and England should want to fight over the Venezuelan affair, when it could seemingly be easily adjusted without war, if the two nations would show a proper confidence in each other, as they should, being relatives. He would commend England if she drew the sword at once on the Turk and compelled him to treat the Armenian Christians in a proper manner.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS.

At the meeting for the election of trustees for the Edmonton Protestant public school district held to-night, Frank Oliver was nominated by A. H. Goodwin, seconded by J. V. Carpenter, and J. D. McBride was nominated by W. H. Clarke, seconded by A. H. Goodwin. There being no other nominations Messrs. Oliver and McBride were declared elected. The personnel of the board will be the same as last year with the exception of Mr. McBride who takes the place of Jas. Lauder, Sr.

CURLING.

On Friday night the Edmonton curling club played the president's match. The rinks and scores were: President's: Snyder 8, Taylor 12, McDonald 10, and Looby 10 making a total of 44; the president's rink consisted of McKay 3, Lauder 10, Vance 5, and McQueen 12, a total of 30, thus giving a majority of 11 to the president's rink.

The curling contest for the Hardyist cup was commenced on Saturday afternoon. Two games were played by the following rinks: K. W. McKenzie, E. Rayner, H. H. Robertson and J. McDonald, skip, whose score was 11; Alex. Taylor, T. Jackson, W. McCauley and R. Vance, skip, score 10; The other two rinks were: R. A. McLeod, J. M. Douglas, E. C. Fennell, and D. G. McQueen, skip, score 11; C. W. Sutter, W. West, J. Johnston, and E. Looby, skip, score 12. McDonald's and Looby's rinks will play off, probably this evening. The other rinks in the contest will be skipped by Lauder, Taylor, Snyder, and McKay.

There is every probability that the curling club will hold a banquet within the next few weeks, as Innisfail and Calgary curlers have expressed their intention of coming to Edmonton to show their prowess with the "stones."

NEW STYLE OF Doing Business.

On and after January 1st, 1896, our books will be closed, and hereafter we will do business for cash only. This will enable us to give you more for your money, because we will avoid the expense of keeping books, the time it takes to collect accounts, and the occasional loss incidental to the credit system. We often hear the remark "That man is as good as gold," but this is untrue. Gold will pay our drafts, and a book debt will not; and nobody ever loved us better because they owed us. On the contrary if they are unable or unwilling to pay they avoid us and pay their cash to our competitors.

At the inauguration of this new scheme we will offer our entire stock of Winter Goods, comprising the latest styles in CLOTHING, FUR AND CLOTH COATS, CAPS, MITTS, GLOVES, MOCCASINS, OVERSHOES, RUBBERS, ETC. AT A Discount of 20 per cent.

All our goods are marked in plain figures, so you will see just what you are paying for them. Hereafter you will find our prices lower than they have ever been, as we will be in a position to give you better value in all lines.

Come and see what we can give you for a dollar.

MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

The result of the Manitoba elections is decisive on the question at issue. Properly speaking it was not the school question, but a resultant phase of that question that the people of Manitoba were asked to give their mandate on. It was not as to whether or not there should be separate schools, but as to what extent federal interference with the school system of the province should be resisted. In their first reply to the remedial order the government of the province suggested—not to say threatened—legislative resistance to federal interference. That government has now a support of at least thirty out of a house of forty specifically pledged to the policy of legislative resistance at any rate. The fact is ugly, but it would be folly to deny that it is a fact. Indeed, not only has the government thirty supporters out of a house of forty pledged to support it on that point, but the majority even of those who have been elected to oppose the government on general principles pledged themselves quite, or almost, as strongly to support it on this point. To use a time honored phrase, it is a condition rather than a theory which confronts the Ottawa statesmen who have undertaken to enforce the remedial order; and it would be well for them to consider the matter in that light. Admitting for the sake of argument that Manitoba is wrong as wrong can be, these elections prove that the people of the province are united and determined on this particular point, and it is just a question, how much it is likely to conduce to the welfare of the Dominion to undertake to coerce them on the point. In the first place is it possible? and in the next place, if possible, is it advisable? It certainly is not possible to appropriate any of the public moneys of the province to any purpose except as the legislature may direct. It is altogether questionable if taxing powers can be given by any other authority than the local legislature. It is doubtful if the most enthusiastic advocates of separate schools in the east would agree to a special vote from the federal treasury in order to support separate schools in Manitoba. How then is federal legislation to be made effective; for schools cost money? But supposing that remedial legislation can be made partially effective—for in the face of a hostile local legislature it cannot be made fully effective—will there be as much gain for those who derive the benefits of separate schools over their present position as will pay them for the disadvantage in other respects at which they will necessarily be placed, in being cut off from the general school system of the province; to say nothing of the loss to the province and the country at large on account of the arrangements which the enforcement of the remedial order would cause? The present and future can best be read in the light of the past. A few years ago when the necessities of Manitoba conflicted with the statutory agreements of the Dominion—when Manitoba declared against the policy of railway disallowance—although the railway company had the law and the Dominion government had the power, Sir John Macdonald said: "We cannot check Manitoba," meaning of course, "We cannot AFFORD to check Manitoba." The present seems to be another such case.

Manitoba has declared repeatedly that it will not have separate schools and the Imperial privy council has specifically declared that it need not have them. At the same time the people of Manitoba through the government have declared as repeatedly that while they cannot afford separate schools they have no wish to interfere with the religious convictions of Roman Catholics or to act unjustly towards them in financial or other matters. If they have treated the Roman Catholic minority unjustly in these matters they assert that they stand ready to remedy the injustice, and court the fullest enquiry. Their offer has so far been treated with scorn. Separate schools do not exist in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, or British Columbia; there are in each of these provinces a much larger proportion of Roman Catholics to the total population than in Manitoba. If Roman Catholics receive substantial justice in educational matters in those provinces without separate schools why should they not in Manitoba. Under the existing circumstances it would seem the better for those who really wish to see the Roman Catholics of Manitoba receive substantial justice in school matters, if, instead of antagonizing nine-tenths of the people of the province and arousing their prejudices against the minority by threatening federal interference in their behalf, they would formulate their grievances against the existing system, say what they want, and lay the matter before the people and legislature and government of the province, as has not yet been done. Although the course taken by the advocates of the interests of the minority has been such as to arouse prejudice against them on the part of the majority, there is still left some sense of justice—surely enough to guarantee that no Roman Catholic shall be put to any disadvantage in securing a useful common school education as compared with Protestants; and that without violence to his religious feelings and convictions.

It should be remembered in dealing with this question that separate schools have not been in existence in Manitoba for some five years. The enforcement of the remedial order does not mean the retention of a system, but the displacement of a system. There is a great difference in responsibility in the two cases. When the Manitoba act abolishing separate schools was passed, and before those schools had passed out of existence, if the Dominion government had exercised its constitutional right in protection of the alleged interests of the minority and disallowed it, very little fault would have been found. It would then have been protecting existing institutions and it would have been for the government of Manitoba to show cause why separate schools should not exist. The federal government of the day did not see fit to extend the protection then which it has since offered in the terms of the remedial order. It probably did not need votes then as bad as it thought it did when the agreement was made in pursuance of which the order was issued. There are many people who did not dislike separate schools enough to ask for their removal in 1890 who do not like them well enough in 1896 to support their re-establishment in a province almost unanimously opposed to them. For the loss of the support of these people—and they form a large minority, if not a majority, throughout the Dominion—to the cause of separate schools in Manitoba the members of the present administration at Ottawa, who a few days ago hoped to ride into power as the champions of separate schools, must take full credit—or blame.

THE CABINET.

The news of the re-organization of the Bowell cabinet is almost as surprising as was the news of its disruption—and as little creditable to the parties concerned. In the first case the premier certainly figured creditably, as a man who having made a bargain was prepared to stick to it and abide the consequences, but the resigned ministers figured as men who had made a bargain expecting gain; but when a prospect of loss loomed up, were prepared to sacrifice their alleged principles, their questionable honor, their friends—that is those who had befriended them—their leader, in fact of getting another term of salary. That Bowell should have surrendered to such a combination after the bold professions he had made goes far to prove the truth of the complaint, that he is not competent for the position which he holds. For that there has been a partial if not a total surrender on his part there is no room to doubt. To accept as colleagues men who had dealt so shamefully with him in his public capacity and at the same time had shown themselves to be so thoroughly devoid of principle, is proof either that he is as great a rascal as they or that he has been compelled to submit to their dictation on the plea of party exigency. Most people will agree that if the exigencies of the conservative party are such as to require such alliances the sooner it ceases to be a party—or at least the ruling party—the better for the country.

It would appear that the present alliance is intended to be merely temporary, a closing up of the ranks in preparation for the general elections, rather than for a session of parliament. The way that the M. P.'s have been getting in out of the wet—that is leaving parliament for government offices—within the past few days, as well as the numerous appointments of possible political aspirants to the senate, does not look like a session. The government has lost too many seats in the bye-elections lately and there are too many dangerous questions before the house to warrant them in shelving supporters in the commons just now if they intended to do business while the senate seats might remain vacant and save indemnity. But with an election pending party claims must be satisfied, and there seems to be an extra large crop of them.

The entrance of Sir Charles Tupper into the cabinet can only mean one thing, namely that he is to succeed Bowell as leader of the party during the coming elections, as being a more forceful character than the present premier. The current of the bye-elections, and the recent acrobatic display at Ottawa certainly weakened the chances of the party under their present leader, but the leadership of Tupper caps the climax. Whatever flavor of fairness, patriotism and honesty pertained to the party through the successive premierships of Abbott, Thompson and Bowell will be dissipated by the presence of Tupper leading a cabinet in which the recent bolters will control. The people of Canada know more than they did when Tupper was Sir John Macdonald's lieutenant, and his name is the last with which to conjure in Canada to-day. What the country wants is brains, not bombast. In the old days Sir John Macdonald furnished the brains and Tupper the bombast, and it seems that many who heard the bombast and saw its effect have forgotten about the brains which directed it. They will be wiser within the next few months.

It is said that the deposits there are as rich as the famous Black Hills, and that the hills abound in the yellow metal. A sample has been handed into the Advocate office by Rev. N. Williams, of Kinsistota. The sample was taken from a seam, about eighteen inches wide, and ten feet below the surface, and had been treated by Mr. Williams with nitro-muriatic acid, dried down and dissolved in water, turning it into chloride of gold. There is not the least doubt but the Birch Hills contain gold deposits in paying quantities, but for some reason they have heretofore escaped the notice of prospectors. However, says the paper, this is an easily accessible region, and affords a field for prospectors not often found, and may prove to be more valuable than other places that are boomed up through the press, and by interested speculators.

WINNIPEG DAIRY MATTERS.
A committee has been formed in Winnipeg to draft a scheme for concentrating dairy products at a central market in Winnipeg to bring producers and dealers together and to regulate the trade. The outlines of the scheme have been defined and the details are to be arranged and embodied in a circular, which will be sent to the addresses of all persons known to be interested in dairy matters for their consideration. This circular will be an invitation to attend a meeting on 18th February, to complete the organization.

POOR ARMENIANS!
The ports has decided to provide the distribution among the destitute Armenians of moneys collected by subscription in foreign countries, and a note to that effect has been forwarded to the several Turkish legations in Europe and Asia. This action of the Turkish government is causing widespread consternation among the Armenians of America whose hopes had been raised by the reported numerous subscriptions being taken up in England and the U. S.

The first poem written by Alfred Austin, the newly appointed poet laureate, since his appointment appeared in the London Times on January 9th, and was laudatory of Dr. Jameson's ride into the Transvaal.
An Ottawa telegram says: There is some talk of the government building the Winnipeg and Great Northern Railway as a public work, but on what authority the notion is founded cannot be ascertained. Mr. Jameson is taking part in the negotiations now in progress.

The schooner Henrietta, of Victoria, B. C., was seized a month ago by the Hawaiian authorities for smuggling. On board were found 3,749 cans of opium, a full store of provisions and 500 gallons water. The captain is now in goal, and the schooner and cargo confiscated to the Hawaiian republic.
It is said that the British Columbia members will join Manitoba and Northwest representatives in opposing remedial legislation. In fact, a British Columbia member has openly stated that none of them would follow Prior, and would join the opposition side of the house sooner than support the proposed remedial school bill.

It is said the public will not be kept much longer in suspense regarding the details of the Hudson's Bay canal scheme. Col. Scobie is at Ottawa promoting his application for a charter, but progress is slow owing to the disturbed condition of the government. However he has no reason to fear that he will not be successful. He considers it advisable not to divulge particulars of the scheme until the charter has been issued. Doubtless he is profiting by past experiences.

It is rumored at Halifax, N. S., that the Dominion government proposes to dispose of the Intercolonial railway to the two great private corporations in Canada, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific, and that the Grand Trunk railway will secure that part of the Intercolonial between Levis, Que., and Moncton, N. B. St. John, N. B., and Halifax, N. S. Some credence is given to this report by the fact that the leading Intercolonial officers were recently summoned to Ottawa, and held a conference with the department of railways.
